Synopsis :

Review 'This is a beautiful volume that thoroughly reviews the props, vehicles, and sets used on Batman v. Superman. It's kind of mind blowing the level of detail the film makers put into the practical effects.' - Atomic Moo "Gorgeous...serves as a sterling tribute" - The Film Stage "Fans of movie props will appreciate the detailed photos of the hand weapons." - Borg.com "If you enjoyed watching the DC Cinematic Universe unfold in Batman v Superman: Dawn of Justice and all the Batman-tech stuff, then you definitely want to pick this book up!" - Retrenders "Newell and Gosling have outdone themselves here, providing excellent details and photos of the many varied bits of technology in the film." - Cinema Sentries "A veritable pearl" - Artbook Passion "Batman v Superman: Dawn of Justice Tech Manual is a definitive guide to the weaponry and props created for the movie. It closely examines the Utility Belt, the Batwing, grappling hook and batarang. Everything in the Batcave is explored down to the construction of the set and the graphics from Bruce Wayne's mainframe." - Forces of Geek gift guide Read more About the Author Adam Newell is an editor and writer who has been involved with putting together many film and TV-related titles over the years, including Firefly: A Celebration and Prometheus: The Art of the Film. A fan of all things fantasy, horror and sci-fi, Sharon Gosling is a UK-based writer of both non-fiction and fiction, as well as working as a pop-culture magazine editor and audio drama producer.
